DETAILED ACTION

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments, see remarks, filed 5/25/07, with respect to 35 U.S.C. 112 first paragraph rejection have been fully considered and are persuasive. The previous office action dated 01/05/07 has been withdrawn. Therefore, a new office action is provided in order to expedite the prosecution of this application.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negatived by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 1, 3-5, 7-13, 15-17, 26 and 31 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Vilsmeier et al. (US 6,611,700) in view of Danisch (6,127,672), or non patent literature Measurand Inc.

Vilsmeier et al. discloses a device for performing surgery or therapeutic interventions on a patient, comprising: a first curvature sensor configured to be placed on a patient (col. 1, line 66 - col. 2, line 33). Vilsmeier does not explicitly teach a non-invasive curvature sensor that provides external curvature data. However, medical devices for the application of therapeutics on a patient that have a non-invasive curvature sensor that provides external curvature data, are conventional in the art as evidenced by the teachings of Danisch (6,127,672), or non-patent literature

Measurand Inc.

Based on the above observations for a person of ordinary skill in the art, modifying Vilsmeier et al. with a non-invasive curvature sensor that provides external curvature data as taught by Danisch or Measurand Inc. would have been considered obvious in view of the conventionality of these enhancements.

Additionally, in response to applicant's arguments, the use of a non-invasive curvature sensor placed on a patient that provides external curvature data is conventional in the art as evidenced by the Danisch patent, and non-patent literature Measurand Inc. throughout the drawings that show the curvature sensors that generate data externally affixed to patient(s).

Danisch in Figure 38 above, illustrate the conventionality of using a non-invasive curvature sensor that provides external curvature data. Additionally, the specification in col. 15 line 63 – col. 16 line 30, discloses the use of a non-invasive curvature sensor in combination with a video display computer. Based on the above observations, for a person of ordinary skill in the art, enhancing a sensor with a non-invasive curvature sensor that provides external curvature data would have been considered obvious in view of the proven conventionality of this enhancements.
